We're recruiting native Greek-speaking students who also speak fluent English for a paid remote conversation-recording project supporting speech recognition and conversational AI development.

The gig:

- Casual, unscripted remote conversations in Greek and English with another bilingual speaker

- $10 USD per participant hour, paid individually - flexible scheduling

- 18+, currently living in Greece, quiet space + a phone or laptop

- No experience needed; students, freelancers, and working professionals all welcome

We're looking to start with a small group (around 6 speakers per country) and expand from there. Full details, consent terms, and payment terms are shared with selected candidates before anything is recorded - no fees, no purchases, nothing to buy.
